Working on new projects for the studio to offer as classes before we close for the summer season. I have been playing with a few new ideas and techniques. Let me know if any of these might interest you so I can bring you projects that are of interest to you.

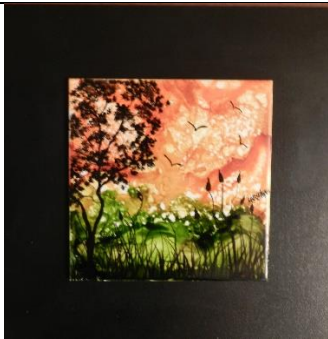

An interesting piece that involves some texturing and lots of basic tole painting and landscape painting techniques. This piece is done on a 16x20 canvas and includes all things Tuscan.

Acrylic Ink and Pouring Mediums are used to create this amazing beach scene along with a few shells, real sand and other goodies.

Would you be interested in trying your hand at this style and technique of painting if everything was included.

I have been playing with alcohol inks and tiles. This is a fun introductory project for alcohol inks and make up your own landscape silhouette to fit the scene.

(P.S. I apologize for the blurry picture....the shiney surface of the tile and ink makes it difficult to photograph)

Stop in at the studio to get a better look at it!

If these are projects that tweak your interest, please drop me an email to let me know your interest.

Also, any other requests/suggestions for class types you'd like to see on the upcoming schedule, please let me know. It is always a challenge to figure out what students might be interested in....share your preferences and we will see what we can do!
